DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 8 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being incomplete for omitting essential structural cooperative relationships of elements, such omission amounting to a gap between the necessary structural connections. See MPEP § 2172.01. The omitted structural cooperative relationships are: how all the elements in the aforementioned claims all work together to produce the voltage supplied to the other vehicle equipment.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1, 4, 11, and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sullivan (4,479,083). Sullivan teaches a vehicle power supply system for driving an electric motor and other vehicle equipment. He teaches an intermediate voltage application means for setting a line defined by an intermediate voltage (12V), between a drive voltage (24V) and a ground voltage (0V), as a ground line for other vehicle equipment. He also teaches power supply means for producing a voltage to be applied to said other vehicle equipment (lights and accessories) based on the drive and intermediate voltage. He also teaches a node (above B2) for providing the vehicle power supply (Col. 1, lines 15-20; Col. 2, lines 61-63; Fig. 3).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 12, 13, 15, 16, and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sullivan (4,479,083) and Welches et al. (2003/0012038). Sullivan teaches a vehicle supply system as described above. Sullivan also teaches that the intermediate voltage could be anything from 12V to 24V to 36V, etc. (Col. 3, lines 19-22). Sullivan fails to teach the voltage being supplied to the other vehicle equipment being Pulse Width Modulated (PWM) or the use of an inverter. Welches teaches a DC-DC converter with an inverter to adjust the voltage applied to a load from a battery. He teaches the use of PWM to adjust the voltage being output to a load (Abstract and [0010]). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to incorporate the method, used in Welches, in Sullivan's invention so that the voltage output to the other vehicle equipment is precise and for improved and efficient power generation.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 9-10 and 19-20 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims. No prior art of record teaches the limitations claimed in the above claims with motivation to combine them with the main reference.

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Hwang (2002/0003525) teaches a power supply circuit for driving a load containing an oscillator, photo-coupler, FETs, diodes, capacitor and resistors.
